

Erratum

Brimonidine-induced punctual eversion: An uncommon adverse effect

In the article titled, 'Brimonidine-induced punctual eversion: An uncommon adverse effect', published in the Global Journal of Cataract Surgery and Research in Ophthalmology,^[1] the word 'punctual' was incorrectly used in place of 'punctal'. The error occurred in the article title, running title, keywords and the how to cite box. The authors regret the mistake and have requested the corrections. The same has now been corrected in the online version of the article, and the reference updated accordingly.

Editor in Chief
Dr. Barun Nayak,
Global Journal of Cataract Surgery and Research in Ophthalmology.

REFERENCE

1. Shah RP, Chaudhary KG, Bhagat PR. Brimonidine-induced punctual eversion: An uncommon adverse effect. Glob J Cataract Surg Res Ophthalmol 2024;3:126-8.